Secret U.S. 'War Ties' Irk Senate

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Official Washington rocked with repercussions today over President Roosevelt's disclosure of his foreign policy to a secret meeting of the Senate military affairs committee.

WAR CLOUDS

WASHINGTON — Legislators bewildered at news of "secret meetings" of Senate military affairs committee, and amazed and alarmed at President Roosevelt's announced policy of selling armaments to democracies.

BERLIN — German newspapers liken Roosevelt to Wilson and declare sale of armaments to democracies puts "America's frontier on the Rhine."

PARIS — French newspapers proclaim that Roosevelt declared "frontiers of the United States are in France."

LONDON — Britain jubilant at Washington news. Chamberlain may visit White House.

ROME — Mussolini silent at services for war dead, fails to deliver expected speech.

Wildwood Golf Club In Natick Burns

NATICK, Feb. 1—The clubhouse at the Wildwood Golf Club, near the Worcester Turnpike, burned to the ground today as firemen fought the blaze in near-zero temperatures.

The two and a half story structure unoccupied at the time, was nearly all ablaze when the fire was discovered. Furnishings and trophies were destroyed. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

Legislators admitted they were bewildered over the series of secret meetings sponsored by administration heads, climaxed by the unprecedented action of the President in calling the military committee to the White House for discussion of the whole international picture.

Bit by bit committeemen told what they had heard at the White House. Senators opposed to the President's support of democracies as opposed to "aggressor" nations, heatedly declared they would wage a fight on the Senate floor "to lift the lid."

Mr. Roosevelt was said to have told the military committee that as commander-in-chief of the army and navy he is supposed to guide the nation's foreign policy; that he was actively co-operating with the democracies; that there was nothing irregular in the presence of an official French air mission in this country.

NYE SUSPECTS FACT

At his press conference later, the President said it had been his policy to encourage sale of fighting planes to foreign nations for two years, to school American manufacturers in mass production.

No requests have come from Germany or Italy for war planes or accessories in the United States, he said.

Senator Nye (R.) of North Dakota, a member of the committee, said he suspected that the President already has an "understanding" with France and England on co-operation.

Amid the statements of committeemen that the President portrayed a world topsyturvy with aggressive powers as a warning to America to be prepared for self-defense, Senator Johnson (R.) of California, irreconcilable foe of entangling alliances, issued a blast against secrecy.

ASKS IF WAR AHEAD

"Are we on the road to war?" Johnson said in a prepared statement.

"In the answer every American has an interest and a deep concern. If our present dealings with the French mission that is now in America or any of the secrets now whispered about Washington Continued on Page 8, Column 2

Sen. Borah Ill, Taken To Hospital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah entered Emergency hospital today suffering from a "very severe case of grippie."

The 73-year-old dean of the Senate was taken to the hospital in an ambulance, accompanied by Mrs. Borah and Dr. Worth Daniels, his physician, who declined immediate comment on the senator's condition.

Dr. Daniels told reporters: "The senator is not a desperate ill man. At present he is suffering from grippie. We hope it will not develop into pneumonia."

Quad Girls Born in Texas; Doing Well

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 1 (AP)

Four lusty-lunged girl babies made their entrance into the world today and physicians gave them an excellent chance to live.

The babies' weights ranged from 3½ to 4 pounds, 9 ounces.

The mother, Mrs. W. E. Badgett, 28, wife of a construction company foreman, was also reported doing well at St. Mary's Infirmary. A blood transfusion was given her as a protective measure.

Dr. W. J. Jinkins, the attending physician, possibly was as astonished as the parents at the birth. Preparations had been made for the arrival of triplets, hospital attendants said.

The father who now is working at Homer, Ia., reached the infirmary this morning.

"I'll have to go to work now," he said, after his fears concerning mother and infants were allayed. "We were expecting three but one more won't make any difference."

The Badgetts were married in 1925 at McKinney, Texas. They have two other children, both girls, 15 and 12.

Double births are not unusual in the family circles of the parents. Mrs. Badgett was a twin and Badgett had twin brothers.

At nearby Beaumont, the Ferris cosine quadruplet boys are husky football players at the age of nine years.

The Keys quadruplets of Oklahoma—all girls—who attended Baylor University at Waco, Tex., are the country's only known instance of a multiple-birth group attaining maturity.

Snowbank Is Life Net for Three

Girl, 7, Heroine as She Saves 4 in Fire

WARWICK, R. I., Feb. 1 — Little Jean Pratt, seven-year-old daughter of Robert W. Pratt, well-to-do Providence broker, is a heroine here as a result of her bravery when she awakened her mother, her twin brother, Robert, and their maid, in time to escape when fire destroyed their home today.

In choking smoke, and with flames snatching at their flimsy night garments, Mrs. Pratt and the two children, trapped on the second story of the rambling house, made their way to an ell of the building and dropped out a window 20 feet into soft snow. None was injured.

Florence Brown, the maid, fled down a rear stairway, from which the family was cut off. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

Jean, aroused by the smell of smoke, ran into her mother's room, awakened her, and then called her brother, Robert.

Mrs. Pratt threw her jewel boxes and valuable papers from the bedroom window, then led the children into the hallway.

They found the lower floor a mass of flames.

Dashing to the extension, Mrs. Pratt threw open a window and dropped the children, one at a time, into the snowbank. Then she jumped herself.

They were joined by the maid. All took refuge in the home of George L. Tingbath, a neighbor.

Apparatus from six neighboring towns battled the flames, but were handicapped by lack of water. Located on Warwick Neck, the blaze was visible for miles.

Mrs. Pratt estimated the loss to the building at $15,000, and $10,000 for the furnishings.

Kill Fox With Gun? This Man Grabs 'Em

MONSON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Tony Verlotto has proved it isn't necessary to have a gun to qualify as a fox hunter. While with a group of hunters, a fox scampered so near Tony deemed it too dangerous to use his gun. So he leaped at the animal and overpowered it with his hands.

Shoots Spirits

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1 (AP)—A man with a bottle of liquor in his hand sped down a street, pursued by Patrolman John Lynch.

Lynch fired a shot into the air. The runner dropped his bottle, and it smashed on the pavement.

He stopped abruptly. "Gosh," he said as Lynch approached, "if I'd known you could shoot so straight I wouldn't have run."

ORPHAN GIRL ENDS LIFE AFTER SAD VIGIL

There was only one person in the whole, wide world to whom she could turn . . . and he didn't care.

She may have found some comfort in the roar of the sea, the whine of the wind, the flight of birds against the gray of the sky; but, always, she was alone, and always the days marched by inexorably.

Weeks passed and the time for the accounting came ever closer. She was bowed down by the knowledge that soon would come a day when her secret would be a secret no longer.

He didn't care that hurt more than anything else. She left her aunt's home in Essex, and went to Winthrop, to the home of Mrs. Emma Shaftoe, in Revere street. Mrs. Shaftoe was very kind to her.

But the days passed, the weeks, the months . . . Mrs. Minnie Fitzgibbon lives in the apartment above the Shaftoe home. She smelled gas, and called police.

Lieut. Louis Donovan and Patrolman Edward Gallagher broke into the house through a kitchen window—and they found her . . . the girl . . . Four jets were open in the kitchen stove. Her body was under the kitchen table. On it the girl had left a sealed note.

Medical Examiner William P. Brickley had the note today. He read it. Then he filled out his report. Suicide, by gas.

The girl was Lillian Meyers, 19, and beautiful. She was an orphan, her nearest relative an aunt, Mrs. Alfred Spaulding, in Essex . . . Mrs. Spaulding was notified to come and get the body.

Heiress Held In Check Case Despite Tears

Katherine W. Maroney, 25, former Parlia Law School student and Back Bay resident, who writes a nice hand but in the wrong place, was held by New York police on the same old charge—passing a worthless check.

The Glastonbury, Ct., heiress cut a dashing figure two years ago on Beacon Hill until police cut a halt to her spending spree.

Tearfully, she explained she had always been used to lots of money in the bank, and, somehow, she just couldn't keep her checkbook straight.

She swore she never knew she hadn't enough money to cover eight checks she cashed in Boston stores. She was given a six months' suspended sentence in Municipal Court.

Just as tearfully, Miss Maroney blurted out a story of wild spending in appearance before Magistrate Alfred M. Lindau. She was charged with cashing a $25 worthless check in a department store.

She told how an $11,000 bequest had filled through her fingers on a gay European trip. She just couldn't take care of money, she added, and also that she didn't know where she was going to get any folding money.

Judge Lindau listened to her story, and also to a report of the Stores Mutual Protective Association on her record. Then ordered her held in $2500 bail for hearing February 7.

The association declared she was wanted for writing checks for which she had insufficient funds in Baltimore, Richmond, Philadelphia, Jacksonville, Washington, Newark and Boston.

WHEN Clark Gable gets his freedom by divorce now sought by Mrs. Gable, Carole Lombard and he will marry, it is practically certain. Here's Carole all set to play a game of tennis with her future husband. Sports have drawn them together.

LIKE AN OSTRICH

There was a boy. His name is Donald Moore. He lives on Clare avenue, Hyde Park. He swallowed a flashlight bulb. Here, his mama, Mrs. Thomas Moore, is looking for it:

No find. Donald was taken to City Hospital. Medicine tastes bad there, but it works. Donald was separated from the flashlight bulb. He's home now. And his mother is looking at it:

TRUE LOVE STORY OF CAROLE, CLARK

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1—Now it can be told . . . Now that Clark Gable and Carole Lombard are to be married March 1—that's the date which has been secretly set, no matter what anybody says—the true story of their amazing romance can be bared in all of its bizarre and amusing detail.

And let it be said right now that if Hollywood doesn't turn it into one of the best, most light-hearted, happiest romance films ever made the fans of the nation will be the losers.

This is one Hollywood romance which it a "natural" for the movies . . . What's more, it's Hollywood's own, favorite romance, the one love story which has the interest and approval of all picture makers, from $1,000,000-a-year tycoons to $15-a-week prop boys . . . If they want it, this happy couple, they can have what would probably be the biggest and most spectacular wedding ever staged in America.

QUIET CEREMONY LIKELY

They'll probably try to slip away in an airplane, or station-wagon to be married as privately as possible.

But the world won't let them . . . And so the many-times crowned "King of the Movies"—the Cadiz, O. boy who came to Hollywood by way of being a hobo hop-picker, a telephone company "trouble-shooter" and a spear-toter on the stage—has chosen as his queen, little Jane Peters, the only duckling of Fort Wayne, Ind., who, through the years, has become filmland's madcap princess of gags and practical jokes, the epitome of sophisticated loveliness, the one woman in the movies most exactly suited to become his mate . . . It will be Gable's third marriage, Carole's second.

WIFE AT RENO

He was married successively to Josephine Dillon, voice coach and instructor in acting, and to the former Mrs. Franklin Langham.

MORE SNOW DUE; HIGH SEAS LASH NEW ENGLAND COAST

A new snow storm was howling across the continent toward Boston today, as high seas continued to lash the New England coastline.

Here and elsewhere in New England emergency crews toiled to clear streets and highways.

A heavy base of ice under the lighter top snow made the clean-up work difficult in Greater Boston. In the city proper, more than 2000 men and 125 trucks were on the snow removal job today. Those employed included 800 regular city workers, 800 specials and 400 from public welfare rolls.

PREDICT MORE SNOW

The official weather forecast indicated Boston might escape the brunt of a blizzard centering over the Great Lakes and moving east today.

The prediction was generally fair and not so cold tonight, threatening tomorrow with probable light snow by nightfall.

Temperatures far below zero were reported in many sections of northern New England.

The total of deaths attributable to the storm rose to seven today.

TRAIN KILLS SHOVELLER

At Hingham Ernest Swain, 67, a WPA worker employed at the U. S. ammunition base, collapsed and died of exhaustion, after a long trip through the cold from his Rockland home.

At Springfield, William J. McBrien, 50, was instantly killed when he stepped in front of a train while he was shoveling snow. He was employed by the Boston & Albany Railroad.

Most serious property damage seemed that suffered by ocean-front districts, where high tides and gale-lashed surf undermined cottage foundations, flooded cellars, smashed windows and blocked highways.

FREIGHTER LEAKING

Two coast guard cutters and a British vessel were rushing toward the American freighter Chippie, reported in difficulty 800 miles off Cape Cod.

The Capilla communicated by radio with Chatham today, saying she was in no immediate danger, although storm battered and leaking.

Tremendous seas hurled the Portland, Me., light-saver off her anchorage, but she was able to fight her way back.

South Shore residents were busy today salvaging odds and ends of valuable cargo from the long-forgotten "zoo ship," City of Salisbury. Bales of rubber, valued at $250 each, were sought by a beach-comber brigade.

50 AT SALVAGE JOB

More than 50 men and women, most of them in hip boots, stood in the surf reaching for salvage material with long poles. It was reported U. S. customs officials would pay $15 or $14 a bale for the rubber.

Also washed ashore were hundreds of lobster traps and many thousands of huge sea clams.

Deep Snow Hampers Auto Work in Detroit

DETROIT, Feb. 1 (AP)—Deep snow hampering the movement of new automobiles from factories resulted in partial shutdown today of four plants here, affecting approximately 30,000 employees.

Old Medford Rum Files in Bankruptcy

Listing liabilities at $93,558 and assets at $85,053, the Old Medford Rum Distillery, Inc., of Wakefield filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today in federal court.

Outstanding creditors of the firm are G. A. Follett of Central terrace, Auburndale, with a claim of $8,012 for cash advanced and accrued interest; Charles Beane of Mt. Vernon street, Cambridge, $2340 and H. P. Converse of Woodland road, Auburndale, $1011.

URGES CCC 'ALUMNI'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Representative Boykin (D.) of Alabama proposed today that former enrollees of the Civilian Conservation Corps organize an alumni society.—The Three-C Men of America.

SNOW and cold fail to halt daily dips of Mrs. Louise DeFelice of Boyer street, Lynn, and Mrs. Thelma Haiso, also of Lynn. Mrs. DeFelice's daughter sometimes accompanies them—but not in bathing suit. They just can't understand why anyone should shiver. B-r-r-r-r.

GREETER JOHNSON HAD 3 YULE FETES

One Christmas dinner a year wasn't enough for wealthy, free-spending "Colonel Tom" Johnson, former Boston city greeter, his nephew, a New York attorney, testified today.

Fin. Com. Asks Tobin to Delay Dog Track O. K.

Admitting the Boston Finance Commission is investigating rumors of an alleged "slush fund" in connection with approval of a license to operate a dog track in Readville, Robert E. Cuniff, secretary of the commission, today sent a letter to Mayor Tobin asking him to defer action on a city council order.

The order was one adopted by the council last Monday which gave approval to an application for a permit for dog racing at the former mile trotting track.

The letter read: "Many stories implying improprieties in the matter (of the track) are in circulation and some of them have come to the Finance Commission officially."

"The commission believes it would be to the best interest of all concerned to give sufficient opportunity to make inquiries."

"The commission will act as fast as possible so as not to delay unreasonably the determination of your action."

It was signed by Cuniff for the commission. Cuniff declined to discuss who had "officially" brought the notice of his body to the matter.

NAZIS BEHEAD SPY

BERLIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—Heinrich Behnke, sentenced to death November 18 for espionage, was beheaded today.

He said that on December 25, 1933, Johnson was host to a family party of four at a swanky New York hotel, but made a special trip to Cambridge to attend Christmas dinner at the home of a sister there.

That feast at an end, "Colonel Tom" sped back to New York and entertained two sisters and the nephew at a second and still more elaborate holiday dinner, December 26, today's witness, Attorney Dalton Dewire, testified.

TWO YULE DINNERS

"So you had two Christmas dinners, one after the other," he was asked in cross-examination.

"Yes—and that wasn't anything unusual in our family," the witness answered.

He said he attended many of the lavish parties given by Johnson at the latter's palatial Magnolia mansion.

He denied he had ever seen any Jap butler in Johnson's employ.

He observed other servants, however, and he enjoyed several swins in Johnson's marble-tiled private swimming pool, he said.

MRS. HALSEY HOSTESS

In the costly Johnson home, with its gold bed, its satin and modernistic hangings, its priceless floor coverings and its gay round of distinguished guests, Johnson's sister, Mrs. Lillian Johnson Halsey, was a frequent hostess, Attorney Dewire testified.

Mrs. Halsey is plaintiff in the present suit against Johnson's estate. She seeks $25,000 from Johnson's estate "for services."

Attorney Dewire testified he was present at a family conference after Colonel Johnson's death. At that time, Mrs. Halsey agreed she would not press her claim against the estate if other heirs would drop claims of their own, Dewire told the court.

Man Gives Love, Prayers Only 8 Minutes a Day

The average man devotes six seconds a day to political and civic activities. He has time for only eight minutes and 36 seconds for love-making and courting.

He spends eight minutes, 18 seconds in religious activities.

He works an average of seven hours, three minutes, and sleeps eight hours and 24 minutes a day. The woman, however, has 29 minutes more for an extra 40 winks—her "beauty sleep."

90 LEISURE MINUTES

These facts were revealed today in a compilation of data by Pittirim A. Sorokin, professor of sociology and chairman of the department of sociology at Harvard University, assisted by Clara Q. Berger, from a survey of 100 WPA white collar workers.

In his research on "time and budgets of human behavior," Professor Sorokin found also that the supposed "over-leisured" white collar classes have only 9 minutes a day of leisure time.

He further discovered that they have one hour and 20 minutes for social activities; one hour and 24 minutes for all intellectual activities; and 24 minutes in all artistic activities.

POLITICS IGNORED

Concerning the six seconds spent by the average person in political and civic activities, Dr. Sorokin remarked:

"This figure throws rather a sinister light upon the present status of our democracy.

"It shows, possibly, that in our democratic country civic and political activities occupy almost no place and take no time in the behavior of a large part of the population. If this is so, can we still claim that we have a government of the people, and by the people?"

"Does such a situation differ much from that of autocratic countries where the majority is supposed not to be participating in political activities? Is not such a situation conducive to the flourishing of dictatorships based upon an inactive majority and too active minority?"

Murphy Probe Fund Granted

The executive council voted today to grant Governor Saltonstall's request for $5000 to investigate the office of State Comptroller George E. Murphy.

Governor Saltonstall in asking for the appropriation explained that he wanted a survey made by public accountants of the business methods of Murphy's office.

All state expenditures are sent through Murphy's office for a final O. K. Political observers saw in the investigation a possible shakeup in the office and even the ouster of Murphy.

Big Fund Asked For Quake Relief

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Pedro Aguirre Cerda today asked the Chilean Congress to set up a 2,500,000,000 peso ($125,000,000) fund for relief and rehabilitation of last week's earthquake zone, where estimates of dead ran as high as 30,000 persons. Congress was expected to grant his request without hesitation. The sum, one and a half times greater than Chile's annual budget, probably will be raised by special taxes. Re-establishment of railway service, facilitated relief work, bringing women, children and injured persons from the quake zone.

Will Canceled Beer Garden Death Fete

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1 (AP)—The will of Mrs. Elizabeth Paul, 81, showed today that she had changed her mind about a beer garden party to mark her death.

The original document, drawn last Sept. 7, asked that an executrix "entertain all my legatees, witnesses and friends at a luncheon in a beer garden in the city of Cincinnati."

Codicils, however, eliminated the requests but provided that seven beauty-parlor attendants share in the estate.

Lynn 'Lady Councilor' Tells Plans

If she finds out she likes politics, maybe Lynn's first woman city councilor, slender, dark-haired Mrs. Alice Crane Harrington, will run for mayor.

There was a twinkle in her eye as she made that prediction today. But she showed a vote-getting strength that amazed the professional "pols" when she won election to the council by a sweeping 1218-to-654 victory over William L. Shanahan.

RUN FOR MAYOR? MAYBE

The election was a special one, held to fill the post left vacant by death of Mrs. Harrington's husband, Edward J. Harrington, several months ago.

"I think the vote I got was more of a tribute to my husband than a compliment to me," the new woman city councilor said today.

"I don't know yet whether I'm going to like politics or not. Heretofore, I've taken my politics second-hand."

"Run for mayor? Well, that's looking pretty far ahead. But you never can tell."

HOME DUTIES FIRST

"First thing I was anxious to find out about my city council work was whether it would interfere with my home duties."

"I'm the mother of two sons and two daughters, you know. So I was glad to learn being a city council member was a part time job."

"If men members can carry on their regular businesses, I guess I can still run my household."

"My policies as a Council member? Well, I want to carry on projects my husband sponsored. I think that's what he would want me to do."

"There's the school on Dexter street and the High Rock Observatory Park."

"I hope the school will be named for my husband."

Sheehan Urges Shipping Aid

Basin merchants pondered today the warning that Japan in the Pacific and Great Britain in the Atlantic are threatening American shipping.

The warning was sounded by Joseph R. Sheehan, former Boston boy and president of the American President Lines, who was feted last night by 600 New England travel agents at a "good will banquet" at the Copley Plaza.

Sheehan called for the support of American shipping, citing the huge government subsidies offered to British and Japanese interests.

Sheehan was presented a plaque from Mayor Tobin by Police Commissioner Joseph A. Timilty and a teakwood block of a President Liner by Frank S. Davis, manager of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Acid Hurler Spoils $55 Load of Pastry

Anasturn Plemos, of Bennett street, Everett, looked out the window of a restaurant in which he was delivering pastry goods today and gasped. Five men were ripping loose the ignition wires, and, even as he watched, one hurled a container of acid into the interior, spoiling pies, cakes and cookies valued at $55.

Officials of the baking company were unable to explain the attack, which took place in River street, Cambridge.

NAZIS FLAY ROOSEVELT AS 'WAR AGITATOR'

F. D. R. Seen '2d Wilson,' Ditching U. S. Neutrality

BERLIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Berliner Nachtausgabe splashed the headline "America's Frontier on Rhine" across its front page tonight and described President Roosevelt's meeting with the Senate Military Affairs Committee yesterday as "without example since the days of the World War."

MUSSOLINI HONORS KIN OF WAR DEAD

ROME, Feb. 1 (AP)—Premier Mussolini paid ceremonial homage to Fascism's black-shirt fighters in Spain and reviewed 20,000 Fascist militiamen today without indicating on what front they might fight again.

The events were in observance of the 16th anniversary of the Fascist militia's organization.

While a public speech had been expected by many, the lack of one occasioned no great surprise. Diplomatic quarters in the past few days have come to the belief that Mussolini would mark time until the end of the Spanish war before giving any official indications of what plans he might have—plans which agitation by the Fascist press have indicated revolved about a demand upon France to grant colonial concessions in Africa.

Machine-gun fire sounded again each time he stepped forward to pin decorations on the black-garbed widows and mothers, many of them with trembling hands as they gave the Fascist salute.

COCOA DUST BURNS

A freak fire did damage of $1600 today when an electric short circuit ignited cocoa dust in a mixing machine in the Walter Baker chocolate factory, Dorchester Lower Mills.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee for several days has been secretly investigating the activities of the French air mission here in the United States.

It was this committee that developed a chain of events purporting to show that Ambassador Bullitt had sponsored the French mission in an appeal to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, culminating in the President ordering administration forces to assist the Frenchmen in shopping for modern fighting planes.

Within the Senate committee a sharp fight has developed over the rule of secrecy. Opposition was voiced by Senators Clark (D.), of Missouri, Austin (R.), of Vermont and Nye.

Bare Horror Cells In Spain Prisons

BARCELONA, Feb. 1—Horrible details of Communist torture chambers, including a fiendish collection of devices borrowed from Soviet inquisition rooms were revealed for the first time today during a tour of Red-controlled prisons used before the insurgent capture of Barcelona.

MABEL BOLL

Countess Rues 'Indian's' Ruse

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (INS)—Countess Mabel de Porcari, who once was Mabel Boll and known far and wide as "The Queen of Diamonds," told Magistrate Overton Harris today that she had been taken in by an Indian suit and a bank of hair as she sought the arrest of Chief Red Wing for allegedly swindling her out of $1000.

During the tour and at its end the diabolical effectiveness of torture as applied to men and women in these Communist "cells of blood" was brought home by stories of prisoners who actually lived through the ordeals.

Accompanied by Col. Jose Ungria, insurgent chief of police, the survey began with a visit to a prison which was formerly the royal convent of San Juanistas.

In it there was a darkened chamber which was bare except for an enormous portable light in the center of the room, resembling a huge violet ray lamp. There was also a row of heavily curtained booths about the size of telephone booths. Explaining these, Col. Ungria said:

BLINDED BY GLARE

"The Reds brought their prisoners here, blindfolded them and placed them in the booths. Then suddenly they removed the prisoners' blindfolds and placed the glaring 300-watt light near their eyes.

"They put iron rings, resembling the rims of manacles, in the prisoners' eyes to hold them open.

"Several of those subjected to this treatment were virtually blind for days.

"Of course, these are Russian inventions. Nothing like this was ever seen in Spain before."

HELD BODY CRAMPED

The basement of the building had a compartment with six tiny cells. Four of these cells contained nothing except concrete blocks four feet high, built against the wall in sleeping fashion so that it was impossible to sit on them for more than ten minutes in a cramped position.

The other two cells were the same except they were fitted with impossible sleeping, ledge-like beds instead of chairs. Outside, in the corridor there was a loud metronome which day and night kept up a deadly tick, ta-tick, tick, ta-tick, until the prisoners went screaming mad, Colonel Ungria said.

Jose Celso Buzquets, carpenter for the former convent until he was arrested, had this story to tell of the Red prison:

DEVICE FOR FLOGGING

"Do you see those iron rings in the ceiling of the corridor?" "Well, the Reds also hung prisoners to those rings and flogged them until they got the information they wanted, if any.

"They beat me badly when they imprisoned me in the big central prison. I was sick long afterward as a result of punches in the stomach."

Col. Ungria said he believed the metronome form of torture was the most horrible invention in the building, adding:

"That thing has an oriental origin, you see. There is no doubt about its Russian beginning."

The last horror feature of the building was a circular chamber which was airtight except for a finely meshed shutter through which questioners could observe a prisoner under a glaring light while they remained invisible.

SENATOR GETS DEATH THREAT ON VET BILL

Rep. Ashe, Preference Foe, Warned in Letter

Threatened with a "bullet through the head" if his two bills to repeal veterans' preference under civil service are passed, Representative George T. Ashe of Lowell revealed the contents of a letter received in today's mail.

Couched in most intemperate terms, the letter further threatens injury to his family, and warns him not to "take it as a joke."

It was signed "The Machine Gun Veterans."

The legislator immediately turned the letter over to postal authorities for investigation, and notified police.

Text of the letter follows: "If you value your life we would advise you to read the following:

THREATEN DEATH

"If you think you are going to get away with your present attitude towards the veterans of the World War you are a very much mistaken man."

"For we have organized a committee that will run you to death the moment legislation is enacted that will take the preference in civil service away from veterans."

"We will wait our turn and when you least expect it we will give you the works, a bullet through your head as you enter your home some night."

"Do not forget your house is always under our eyes and if the veterans do get a dirty deal and their preference rights are taken away from them you will suffer and your whole family will have a life of terror, for we mean to go through with this until we get you."

FAMILY IN PERIL

"Don't take the warning as a joke for you are a marked man. From now on every move is watched and if you know what is good for you and your family you had better think things over."

"The Machine Gun Veterans."

Representative Ashe, who is unmarried, lives with his mother and sister in Cross street, Lowell.

There are five measures now pending for repeal or modification of veterans' preference, both of the repeal measures having been initiated by Ashe.

The three modification laws provide for preferential ratings in examinations, and other like devices. All of the measures may be voted upon at the present session.

Woman, 72, Flees Fire

A 72-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Taylor, fled barefoot from her blazing home in Nahant street, Wakefield, into sub-freezing temperatures today.

Walter McNeil, her son-in-law, carried his two sons, Walter, four and Robert, two, to safety as firemen, handicapped by the cold, fought three hours to bring the fire under control.

Firemen estimated the damage at $1500. Mrs. McNeil was in the hospital and planned to return home today.

OUTDOOR sports and athletic contests are shared together by Clark Gable and Carole Lombard. Hollywood observers say that's one reason their romance will culminate in marriage first of March and be successful.

CAROLE'S JALOPPY GIFT TO CLARK LANDED HER MOVIE LOVER NO. 1

New York social leader, now in Reno to divorce him.

She was married to film star William Powell, who, after their divorce, laid his broken heart upon the grave of glamorous and lovely Jean Harlow, the gorgeous blond who was so young to die . . .

But it is the purpose of this story to tell the lowdown, the "inside story" of the Gable-Lombard romance, and here it is:

It began, believe it or not, with a St. Valentine's Day gag, one of those excruciating practical jokes for which Miss Lombard has become famed beyond all others in Hollywood.

To understand the why of it let's look at Gable a little more closely. Here is strictly a man's man, eminently honorable, but with little concern over the fluffy, false and fragile gadgets which pass in Hollywood for society. Separated from his wife, he lived at the Beverly Hills hotel, strictly a bachelor, and only concerned with the making of movies. His free time was spent in long hunting trips, on airplane flights to far places, at tennis and polo.

A GAY SET

The center of the interest of thousands of women, he had but little time for any woman.

Miss Lombard, on the other hand, was at the very center of all social activities. To be accepted into the set which centered about her was equivalent to listing in the Social Register.

It was and is a set devoted to cocktail parties, and gay dinner gatherings.

And Miss Lombard was its brightest ornament until things became serious between she and Gable.

What brought them together was a gag, a practical joke . . . Actually it was her way of telling Gable, the shy one, the morose one, that she liked him pretty well, and wished that he would come around more often . . . He's been coming around ever since.

The gag was played on St. Valentine's Day. Gable was informed that a St. Valentine's Day gift had been delivered to him at his hotel.

PRESENTED JALOPPY

"Well, send it up," he told the telephone girl.

There was a conference at the end of the wire, and then—

"We're sorry, Mr. Gable," he was told, "but there's no way of sending it up. You'll have to come and claim it."

Grumbling, he left his quarters and went to the front of the hotel. There, painted white, and with great red, dripping hearts on each door was a jalopy, but an old one, a noisy one, practically a grandfather among Fords.

Tied to the steering wheel was a St. Valentine's card, addressed to "Blackie," the character he portrayed in "San Francisco," and it was signed "Missy."

That was the tip-off, for that is a pet name which is reserved for only those closest to her. It was noticed that he had been accepted into her own, private circle of friends, that he belonged.

He got into the car and tried it. He was surprised when he found that it would really run. So leaving his Deussenberg in the garage he set sail in the limping, belching, protesting gift and headed for the Lombard menage in Bel-Air.

That evening, whooping and shouting they drove the wheezing jalopy to a formal picture evening, she in ermine, he in tails, to the joy of the thousands who in Hollywood turn out for such openings like Easter eggs turn out for a football game. It was the bit of the affair.

And so, publicly, began their romance.

TOGETHER ALWAYS

Since that time, more than two years ago, they have been inseparable.

It changed Gable and it changed her. He had found love, contentment in the companionship of one who was a pal, a comrade as well as an idol to be adored. But it changed her to an even greater degree. Night clubs knew her no more. Cocktail parties marked her as absent. She turned over night from being a gay and glamorous butterfly to a homebody, a sports-woman, devoted to her man, making her interests his interests.

Then came the adventure of the bearded men, an episode which has caused considerable controversy and not a little heartbreak for those who believe that films should be historically correct to the last degree.

History?—What is history to a couple in love? . . .

The Adventure of the Bearded Men and other happy episodes in the inside story of the romance between Clark Gable and Carole Lombard in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

The South Shore summer colony that includes Scituate, Marshfield and Duxbury will be without train service following the authorization today by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the abandonment of more than 14 miles of road in Plymouth county by the Old Colony Railroad.

The new stations to be without service are in addition to 88 already authorized and now under litigation. The commission told the New Haven railroad it could cease operating this 14-mile section of line, one of its subsidiaries.

The 14 miles extends from Greenbush to near Kingston. The Boston & Maine was allowed to abandon seven miles of line, from Wilmington Junction to South Fiddleton. The road asked to drop 25 miles, from West Boylston to Hardwick.

Hitler's Speech Calms War Fear

AN IMPROVEMENT in the world's mental state after the Hitler speech is quite understandable. The speech calmed the fresh fears of war, and lent little support to old fears.

Indeed it is scarcely probable that Chancellor Hitler does not want war because the only real hope of getting what he wants is to get it without war.

He makes a great point of what his National Socialism has done for Germany. And with the usual tactics of a politician, of what he is a master, he promises much greater things.

But he well knows that a general war would not only prevent his keeping of his promises but would wipe out what he has done.

A general European war would inevitably be a general European disaster.

There would be no question of winning or losing it, but merely of surviving.

HITLER'S DECLARATION for peace and for peaceful procedure probably means the assurance of peace in Europe for some time to come, and only the pursuit of a peaceful course by other factors of world opinion is needed to give Europe and the rest of the world assurance of a PERMANENT peace.

Of course, if nations and peoples are relaxed and reassured by Hitler's speech.

There is no question of the hysterical belief that Hitler was behind the first war, and that war was therefore inevitable.

Hitler was a very dangerous man, but HE DOES NOT WANT WAR with any nation, to all, including himself.

In fact, then, the French reaction is one of gratitude that Hitler has added no new complications to the international situation.

As a result of the British reaction of cautious satisfaction that the fact that the international situation is no more critical and Hitler has spoken must be accounted a gain.

JOHN EDWIN SUMNER Pittman, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who has lately been adding fresh fuel to the fires of war fears, admits that:

"If Hitler's speech is as tolerant as his speech, there need be no fear of an immediate war."

If this evidence of moderation from Hitler has done so much toward easing fears of war, a conciliatory, restrained and dignified attitude in other quarters would be a further contribution to peace.

Already world tension has been relaxed, and world markets have responded favorably to the new hope that peace is possible and war is not inevitable.

Surely war is not inevitable, and desperately AFRAID of war, and all peoples so desirous of peace, leadership can be found to PREVENT war and PRESERVE PEACE.

SHOULD WOMEN TELL their exact ages? Representative Wenzler, defender of a bill that would permit our wives and sisters to sue their husbands to police census takers, answers the question with an emphatic "No."

Representative Wenzler believes a woman's age is very much her private property. He further argues that disclosure of her number of years of age might jeopardize her job or injure her matrimonial opportunities.

These are convincing statements, and many undoubtedly will agree with them.

None the less, it is difficult to see how census secrecy would benefit the woman of forty who pretends to be twenty-five or thirty.

Census takers can without too much difficulty go to the City Hall or City Hall and there learn her age.

RACKET WAR FEARS voiced in connection with the City Council's approval of public taxicab stands, do not disturb passengers at all.

A Police Commissioner Timilty has stated, this city is fully prepared to maintain law and order.

If any individual or group foolishly believes that violence can be a reform of the present stand system, that individual or group is doomed to a bitter disappointment.

Business is more important than taxicabs. And it will not be a taxicab driver who can obtain the identity of offending operators, unless they are reported, if necessary, revoke their licenses.

Also, the Police of Motor Vehicles has authority to suspend the licenses of operators who suspend registrations.

With the police staring him in the face and with the probability of a regulatory insurance resting heavily upon him, the Boston taxicab driver does not have to do much thinking to realize that racketeering is not what it means going out of business.

The Human Side of the News

Stylists Revive Gibson Girl

By EDWIN C. HILL

Copyright, 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHARLES DANA GIBSON, hale and hearty at 71, lives to see the wasp-waist swing around again in the fashion cycle. Late news is that "another era of lacing and boning is here. The demand for women's gowns is described as 'an authentic 1930 costume.'"

It was about 1912, with the lure of sports and the loom of suffrage, that women began to break out of their stags, sartorial and intellectual. And here they are in again, so far as their gowns are concerned.

With his Gibson girl, the above-quoted artist amiably satirized the era of women wailed about in whalebone. In his black and white delineation of "The Education of Mr. Pupp," his artist's veiled idealized queenly American young womanhood to a degree which no doubt would be puzzling to the young emulators of Ginger Rogers or Bette Davis today.

BUT HE WAS a gentle Daumier, without malice, and today, looking through the yellowing pages of one of his big, flat Gibson girl books which used to repose on the "center table," one sees the artist, as he was quoted, "the artist's affirmation of that over-stuffed late Victorian era."

Immutable and forever unchanging seemed that eternal fix-

ity of wasp waist, leg-of-mutton sleeves and billowing skirt, with perhaps a palid, flat-chested torso kneeling at the girl's feet. And if historians weren't such stodgy old boys what a tale of change and adventure they could pack into a single wasp-waist, or shirt-waist cycle.

Mr. Gibson, summing up his island at Dark Harbor, Maine, or wintering in town, is complacent about all that. A year or two ago, he noted that the girls themselves hadn't changed much, even if they had broken out of their whalebone cages. He saw much to commend in the changes which have come and, anyway, he isn't particularly interested in this immortal Gibson girl.

IN 1905, he adrostepped a salary of $65,000 a year to get rid of her and free himself for his painting. He went to Montmartre and reviled in a grand splash of color for a while, but it wasn't long until they dragged him back to meet the unforgiving demand for more shirtwaist girls.

It was 51 years ago when he sold his first drawing to the old pictorial-weekly "LIFE," remaining on the staff and becoming owner and publisher in 1920. It is now many years since he was linked to the Gibson Girl's apron strings, and even if the wasp-waist is back, Mr. Gibson isn't in danger. He has won his "A" as a first string artist.

This backward look brings us a measuring rod of the evolution of ideas. Younger from Gibson girl to whalebone from whalebone to whaling. Whaling wasp-waist revive the industry.

The Marry-Go-Round

No Girl Accepts Role of Castoff

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT NO MAN seems to understand is that, after a love-affair has gone dead, almost any girl would rather be DELETED than DEMOTED.

That is why it's next to impossible to make a "good pal" out of an ex-sweetheart. No woman ever was willing to play second fiddle where she had once been first violin.

She may be OUT and glad of it—but she is never DOWN!

THE GREATEST REVOLT of many centuries was staged in Washington, D. C., when the debutantes of that city defied the chaplains and Mrs. Grundy (that stuffy old cat) by refusing to wear the high hair-do at the annual Bachelor's Ball.

That was the Women's Declaration of Independence against the Fashion Arbiters—and some day, there will be a monument in Washington to "The Brave Gals of Thirty-nine."

Life is short and youth is fleeting—and what girl wants to look like her own maiden aunt? Look young and pretty, just as long as you can!

Wear a doll-hat or a monkey-hat, if it's becoming to you—but not if it makes you look like a cartoon. There is no "progress" in the styles—it is all merely "change."

Don't be a robot!

IN FRANK CASEY's delightful book, "Tales of a Wayward Inn," he deploras the decline of manners in the American Man.

"There seems to be a feeling that politeness is effeminate," he says, "or at least that stiffness is masculine. This is an ridiculous and unfounded as the base-on-the-chest theory. Men with hair on the chest may do, undoubtedly; men with clean-shaven faces as a little boy's may be and have been world's champion heavyweight. . . . I notice that an Englishman, a Frenchman, almost any European at a restaurant table on a week-end in the country, is very careful with the ladies, often picking up more than his mere room and board on a visit.

"It is some satisfaction to call him names, but it might be more satisfaction to watch his work and keep America for the Americans."

THESE ARE words of wisdom from a man who has met and had to deal with all types, from mails and waiters, bell-boys and doormen to prima donnas, screen stars, famous authors and other high-powered temperamentalists.

I always tip a courteous cab-driver or a polite waiter more than I do the gruff ones. Good manners, beautiful manners, bring the greatest returns for the least effort.

Manners have nothing to do with polish or "varnish" or hand kissing or boot-kicking.

Courtesy is just a little consideration for the OTHER fellow. IT DOESN'T cost you a thing or take a minute! Why should we become a nation of powderies and rough-necks? It doesn't PAY—it isn't even "rugged individualism."

The "retort discourteous" is the cheapest form of wit—and the shabbiest—in the world!

Good breeding will do more to make a man popular or a girl "glamorous," than all the beauty in the world!

'Bugs' Baer Says:

THE ULTRAMICROSCOPE tops Walt Disney and shows

million trillion dwarfs on a pinhead. The ultramicroscope is strictly for science and research and is intended to take infinitesimal matter on a single ride.

IT SHOWS virus, microbes and germs playing tag with molecules, which is a doctor's idea of a travesty. We sat in the projection room and saw the microbes of mumps sneaking up for a big double feature.

IT CHANGES the amusement game all around. The next scenario will consist of boy germ meets girl germ. There isn't much of a story because their parents never object. So they get married and you live unhappily ever after.

THAT'S WHAT the ultramicroscope will do for the movies. It makes everything bigger than it is except the space for your elbow.

WHEN THEY put it into the first-run houses you're going to step out on a second run. The ultramicroscope will show germs that will make King Kong caddy for the Seven Dwarfs.

IT MAY HURT the attendance. Why pay to see 'em? When you can stay home and get 'em for nothing? Or, "Bugs" Baer says, "You can raise your dirty dishes. You can raise your dirty dishes."

Mayor Carney Freed Faces 7 More Charges

MAJOR CARNEY, who had previously been freed from 10 charges, was today freed from seven more charges, leaving him with only three remaining. The charges were: (1) conspiracy to defraud the city of Boston of $100,000; (2) conspiracy to defraud the city of Boston of $100,000; (3) conspiracy to defraud the city of Boston of $100,000.

The verdict is proof that the ancient code of our state cannot be used for the furtherance of political or selfish motives," he said. He thanked each juror personally.

Judge Upholds Wife Slapping

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Jury today ruled for Judge Philip J. Finnegan that for a man to slap his wife's face is not a crime. In fact, he thinks it would be a good idea if more men did so.

The judge's views were handed down in the case of Mrs. Mary F. Kubar, 22, who said she married John Kubar, Jr., last year and left him two weeks later after having been slapped twice. Now she wanted a divorce.

"It isn't cruelty within the meaning of the law," said the judge, "unless it endangers life. A slap in the face does not endanger life. A man has the right to slap his wife and I think if more of them did so there would be fewer divorces."

Girl Violinist, Heiress, Sticks to Job

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—"It's quite a thrill, but I don't think money is going to change my life a great deal," said Alice Friedman of Worcester, latest Cinderella girl, today.

A beautiful brunette whose sweet voice and natural talent were first heard in a radio broadcast last week, Alice today had been tapped for $70,000.

Her father, David M. Friedman, president of a national chain of stores, for his musical child was offered by Alice's father, who was offered $70,000.

"I am glad for my father's life is at an age when he can appreciate security," Alice said, "but as for myself I can't visualize any life outside of the musical world. I'll stick to my violin and I'll accept pay for my work too."

Infantile Signs Described By Dr. Dafeo

By ALLAN ROY DAFEO M. D.
Personal Physician to the Dionne Quintuplets
Copyright 1939 by Eric Features
It will be simpler for explanation if we describe symptoms of infantile paralysis as they appear in the child. The child has paralysis, but he will advise you to keep the child in bed and that is an important part of the treatment at this time.

Probably most cases of infantile paralysis never advance beyond that stage, and if you keep him in a warm bed, he may reach his age as well as ever.

On the other hand, the child may have paralysis, but he will advise you to keep the child in bed and that is an important part of the treatment at this time.

Unfortunately, in every epidemic we see children who have been allowed to go far beyond this stage before the child is treated.

If he is getting infantile, he will protest and cry out when the head is pushed down. If she discovers these signs, the doctor may arrive for a definite diagnosis and treatment.

By GEORGE HOLLAND
EXCLUSIVE: Former Governor James M. Curley will wait until after his pending case, now in the hands of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, is settled, and will then officially announce his candidacy for the United States Senate.

Afterthought: Although it is true that Curley's case is now in the hands of the Supreme Court, it is also true that Curley's case is now in the hands of the Supreme Court.

Supreme Court with Justices Louis Brandeis and Donahue, and the local politician as their alma mater.

Edith Wright, the beautiful singer with Tommy Dorsey's band (bound this way for a pair of one-nighters next week), will become Mrs. J. Donald Budge, when the tennis champ completes his current tour. Miss Wright has announced her decision to quit the Dorsey troupe, and this column suspects that her successor will be lovely Mary Ann McCall, now with Woody Herman's grand band at the Raymor.

Many are predicting that Curley will win the Senate race, and as a result, Curley will be the first Governor to win the Senate race.

With the Dorseymen on the upbeat and threatening the pre-eminence of Benny Goodman (some say he has passed Goodman in popularity), the new job will be the first break for Miss McCall.

Say It Ain't So, Jacques:

Concerning another report regarding this case, the column has obtained a vehement yet dignified denial from Jacques Renard. The Coconut Grove orchestra leader insists the whole thing is a hoax, and that he will be flown over Boston Common with a reading Good-year across his middle.

Once Over Lightly:

The "dope" now is that Public Works Commissioner William Callahan will remain in that important post throughout the Saltonstall administration. When Woody Herman's band comes to town, record a song of his own writing which many men have talked as a probable national success of great proportions.

Bunny Berigan's orchestra had its premiere at The Southland last night, and the famous trumpeter and his boys attracted the largest crowd in the nightclub sector.

As a matter-of-fact, a higher court might leave more space for staid citizens than those of the jitterbug variety.

Jim Considine, manager of Phil Murphy's Collegians, has welcomed his charges home after a successful trip to Paris, and has booked them solidly through the month of February.

Jeffrey Lynn of Lynn, one of 1938's budding screen stars, was a crack half-miler at Bates, and in the fan magazine gush he is currently exciting, details of his track career are lacking.

M. Duval, a maverick pianist, is starting the customers at the Crawford House.

Massachusetts Public Service Personnel League, an organization voted to the modification of the Veterans' Preference Act, will hold its annual convention at the City Square Hotel.

STATE LOTTERY AS A TAX PANACEA

KENNETH I. TAYLOR, EXECUTIVE of the State Federation of Labor, suggests that the tax burdens of the citizens of Boston and the Commonwealth are sure to grow steadily worse before getting any better and therefore a state operated lottery is the panacea. His theory is that the people are busy gambling, both lawfully and otherwise, and in some cases getting a pretty vicious tossing around by the numbers pool, sweepstakes and bootleg bookmakers. He thinks it is time to be candid about our sins and, as long as a portion of the public wishes to gallop its funds, the state is in the position to do the job more mercifully than the irresponsible types, of which many are notorious no-goods.

AUSTEN LAKE

This is a familiar argument which was originally advanced by the repeal candidates during the years of prohibition, when thirsty people were deprived of bottled nourishment, but none the less irrigated themselves with the cruder stimulants like brass polish and sheep dip, which were smuggled in under the cover of night and sold in the blind-pigs at $1 the standard nip. The repealers said the people would drink despite government tongue-clucking and that the only benefits from prohibition were to the weasel characters who grew fabulously rich by poisoning their fellow men.

Flu Said $200,000,000

THE AMERICAN FLU ASSOCIATION, which has been working for some time to bring about a national flu day, has estimated that the flu epidemic of 1933-34 cost the country $200,000,000. The association says that the flu epidemic of 1933-34 was the most severe in the history of the United States, and that it was responsible for the death of 100,000 people. The association also says that the flu epidemic of 1933-34 was responsible for the loss of 10,000,000 days of work. The association says that the flu epidemic of 1933-34 was responsible for the loss of 10,000,000 days of work. 6 to 1 Against Honesty

I HAVE HEARD IT COMPUTED on shrewd authority that the annual amount sunk in the Irish and Canadian sweepstakes, not to mention the Cuban, Luxembourg, French Riviera, Lichtenstein and other minor league lotteries which are hawked hereabouts, runs to $150,000,000 in Boston alone. The same authority guesses that one sixth of the sum reaches the proper charities and private sponsors and the rest trickles into the pockets of professional chiselers who distribute prizes with no overhead except the commissions paid to the leg men who vend the stuff.

In many cases the agents who peddle these fakes are innocent of any guile, believing that they are helping a worthy cause and turning back their commissions faithfully. Too late, when their receipts fail to come back, they discover the fraud. Due to tolerance by the authorities, who often ignore the Sweepstakes for the sake of the confidence man, it affords the purchasers, including both rich and young as well as poor and aged, the counterfeiters operate on the same plane of indulgence as the honest agents. Both flourish behind a screen of sentiment.

B'S DROP GETLIFFE, SANDS IN SHAKEUP

By BILL GRIMES

In one of the most startling moves in the Bruins history, Manager Art Ross today shipped Charley Sands and Ray Getliffe to Hershey in exchange for two kids.

This shakeup comes with dramatic suddenness as there was no inkling that any such shift was in sight.

MEL HILL and Gordon Pettinger ganged up on Goalie Robinson of the New York Americans but failed to score. Nels Stewart and Hooley Smith of the Gotham team were in on the play and cleared the disk before the Bruins forwards could make the tally.

MAY COME BACK

THE BOSTON BRUINS have been disappointed in the play of Getliffe and Sands this year. Not only has their offensive play been ragged but defensively they have had more goals scored against them while on the ice than 1 care to see.

"I have been frankly disappointed in the play of Getliffe and Sands this year. Not only has their offensive play been ragged but defensively they have had more goals scored against them while on the ice than 1 care to see."

REARDON ONLY NINETEEN

"They are still good hockey players and if they produce down at Hershey and show their form of last year or two years ago, they may be brought back."

Manager Art Ross has been disappointed in the play of Getliffe and Sands this year. Not only has their offensive play been ragged but defensively they have had more goals scored against them while on the ice than 1 care to see.

Harry Kelley Is Flying Tackle Is
Sonnenberg Fan Like Louis Kayo

By JACK CONWAY

Mr. Boston

might be won the title from Strangler Lewis.

"With less weight than he was carrying a year ago, Sonnenberg has regained his former speed. It would be a great thing for wrestling and for sports to see the old Dynamiter blast his way back to his former position at the top of the wrestling world.

"Sonnenberg did much for wrestling. The game was having its troubles when Gus got everybody thinking and talking about the flying tackle.

"Gus made a fortune, but that was back in the golden days when nobody held on to money. Athletes making big money invested it in the stock market or in real estate, and when the depression came they found themselves without funds.

"Sonnenberg can win another fortune on the mat, and I would like to see him do so. Perhaps I am a sentimentalist in regard to my old champions, but I shall continue to root for Gus. I plan to be at the Garden tomorrow night when Sonnenberg will try to add Ernie Dusek to his list of victims."

Will Challenge "The Shadow" and Casey

IF SONNENBERG wins from Ernie Dusek, he will toss a challenge at "The Shadow" and Steve Casey. It is Gus' plan to take on the top men in the wrestling world so that he can regain his lost title as quickly as possible.

Dusek may upset Sonnenberg in the Garden bout. Ernie is the best wrestler among the Dusek clan. He is aggressive and knows all of the mat holds. He is also younger than Sonnenberg, and believes he will be able to match speed against speed, and not tire as quickly as the Dynamiter.

The Sonnenberg influence is spreading among the fans and it is expected that there will be a large crowd in the Garden tomorrow night. The Sonnenberg flying tackle is still one of the greatest thrills in sports.

Baseball Writers' Dinner

TRY AND GET a ticket for the Baseball Writers' dinner at the Copley-Plaza tomorrow night, and you will realize what a tremendous success this affair has become. The banquet hall of the Copley-Plaza Hotel will be taxed to capacity. It is one of the finest affairs of the indoor season.

The Baseball Writers' dinner has had a natural growth. It has had an increased attendance each year. The calibre of the show has also been better each year which is a fine tribute to the young men in charge of the dinner.

Frank Leahy Comes to Town Again

FRANK LEAHY, new Boston College coach, is in town again. This time Leahy is here to attend the Boston College football dinner at the University Club tonight. It will be an enthusiastic group that will greet Leahy.

Boston College is hopeful that under Leahy's instructions that its football eleven will rise to greater heights than have been attained in the past. There has been good football material at the Heights, but the eleven has lacked the spark that might have lifted it to greatness.

Leahy, with a background of seven years of coaching and a fine football record at Notre Dame, comes to Boston College fully equipped to fill his new post. He will have the full co-operation of the college authorities, alumni and student body.

Bill Grimes, who scooped the town on Leahy's appointment, tells me you will like the new boss of the Eagles. He has a great deal of personality, and is eager to go places in football. Give Leahy a warm welcome tonight.

Random Shots at Target

I DON'T SEE how Joe Louis can afford to pass up a bout with Tony Galento in Philadelphia. . . . It will be a million dollar gate, and the champion should win inside of three rounds. . . . Galento will box twice a month, according to Joe Jacobs, so as to keep himself in front of the public. . . . Natie Brown will be Galento's next victim in a bout that will be held in Detroit on Friday night.

Foxx, Dean Honored

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1 (AP)—Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean's pitching against the Pittsburgh Pirates last season and his work in the World Series have made him the choice of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers' Association as the "most courageous athlete" of 1938.

"I don't want to take any credit away from Joe McCarthy," said Dean in accepting the honor last night, "but my dream of heaven is to go to sleep some night and wake up to find that I have been appointed manager of a team that has the power of the Yankees."

Dean was presented with a plaque, Mickey Cochrane, who was chosen for the award last year when he was manager of the Detroit Tigers, attended the banquet at which the award was made.

Jimmy Foxx, Red Sox slugger, was cited by the sports writers for the outstanding sports achievement in 1938. Foxx' .349 batting average won him the American League's championship and "most valuable player" award.

MONTANEZ ON TOP

More Honors

It's another home run for Jimmy Foxx, American League batting champion and slugging first sacker of the Red Sox. James Emory is shown with a plaque awarded him by the Philadelphia sports writers as the outstanding athlete of 1938. The presentation was made at their 35th annual dinner.

FENSKE CANNOT HE WILL DEFEAT GLENN

By MURRAY KRAMER

The announcement that Charles "Chuck" Fenske, the pride of Wisconsin, has entered the Hunter Mile in the B. A. A. Games a week from Saturday, is causing no real excitement among track followers.

In fact quite a few of the boys are not even mildly interested, for they point out that Fenske was built up for the K. C. Mile as the dark horse to beat Cunningham and from last reports he was still somewhere in the Garden trying to finish.

But, in defense of Chuck, it must be admitted that any miler who has been edged by one foot in two near record races with Cunningham can't be as bad as his performance last Saturday night.

After the race "Chuck" remarked: "Please don't measure me by this race. It was my first performance on boards this year and I just couldn't get started."

"I'm not going back home until after the B. A. A. games and two solid weeks of training in those parts will make quite a difference."

"I know that I can give Cunningham a battle right to the wire as I have done twice before and I'm going to try and redeem myself in the Hunter Mile."

Tom Kanaly is rounding up one of the greatest fields to ever compete indoors here in Boston for the Golden Anniversary meet, Harold Cagle, and John Borican, the two newest sensations, have already filed entries.

Ray Staley, Southern California's recent star, who is a former holder of the world's high hurdle record of 14.1 seconds and a member of the 1935 Olympic team, will be here and Frank Fuller of Virginia, who easily whipped Johnny Donovan of Dartmouth last year will also be on hand in the B. A. A. bout.

That record for the Lapham 1000 which is two minutes 13 8-10 seconds made by Chuck Hornbostel three years ago is certain to be erased by John Borican, Columbia graduate student who breezed to a 2:12.6 1000-yard performance last Saturday night.

The B. A. A. committee has a decided edge over the Prout Game officials in relays. They have a chance to watch the quartets work under pressure and as a result can make better pairings. And, too, the Prout Games generally come while most colleges are having mid-year exams and the boys are not up to par.

Grand National Field Cut to 52

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP)—The field for the grand national steeplechase of Aintree, March 24, was cut to 52 horses, including five owned by Americans, when the first forfeits were paid today.

Still in the field was War Vaseel, six-year-old chestnut gelding by Man o' War—on her own, owned by Mrs. Marion Dupont Scott, The Montpelier, Va., sportsman, who won the classic with Balltopship last year, came back to the wars with a son of "Big Red" for the second straight time.

Other American-owned entries still in the field are J. B. Shaw's Deichman, which finished fifth last year; Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Flying Minutes, a son of Flying Ebony, the 1925 Kentucky derby winner; F. Ambrose Clark's La Touche and Mrs. L. E. Stoddard's Milano. Also remaining is the 1937 grand national winner, Royal Mail, now owned by Mrs. Camille Evans, former American star.

SPORT-O-GRAMS

During the mid-season meeting last week in New York, the National Hockey League agreed to lend a helping hand to the rapidly shipping Chicago Black Hawks. . . . Yesterday, the Rangers traded Joe Cooper, who has been out on loan to the Philadelphia Ramblers, for Alex Levinsky, who will be assigned to the Quaker City club. . . . Prior to announcement of the Rangers-Hawks trade, there was a rumor in circulation that Bill "Flash" Hallett was headed for the Windy City. . . . However, now that "Dic" Clapper is out for three weeks, "Flash" will probably receive a reprieve. . . . The site of the new rink, which will be built in Philadelphia at a cost of $4,000,000 has been selected. . . . It is an ideal location, almost in the very heart of the city. . . . A bomb-shell will explode in local hockey circles when the officials make the announcement concerning the personnel of the N. H. L. club that will represent "Philly" next season is released. . . . Just watch Frank Leahy go to town tonight, during the B. C. Varsity dinner at the University Club. . . . John Borison, the young flyer from Emberton, N. J., will compete in the Henry G. Lapham 1000-yard run in the 50th annual B. A. A. meet Saturday night at the Garden. . . . Wilfred Le Febvre, who attracted the attention of major league scouts while southpawing for Holy Cross, has signed his Red Sox contract. . . . He was with Minneapolis last season, playing in 23 games and compiling a record of eight wins against the same number of defeats. . . . George Flanagan, the young pitcher from Emberton, N. J., will compete in the Henry G. Lapham 1000-yard run in the 50th annual B. A. A. meet Saturday night at the Garden. . . . He's well and favorably known in these parts as he was formerly at Waltham, Arlinton and assistant pro at Trapelo. . . . He succeeds Joe Stien, who will be at the Manchester, N. H. Country Club this season. . . . By the time he gets back from Berlin, N. H., tomorrow, Joe Cronin will give odds that he's seen America. . . . Two years ago, Lorne Carr who was injured last night at the Garden, received a slight concussion. . . . He was very lucky that he wasn't seriously hurt last night. . . . And, despite the Americans, it was an accident. . . . The New Yorks were all for blaming it on Eddie Shore. . . . Gene Desautels "mashed" up from Webster yesterday to "ban-ber" with Joe Cronin and Eddie Collins. . . . Art Row and Jack Portland will fly back from Chicago next Monday to attend the Gridiron Club dinner.

Martin, Mercier Clash

A main bout that appears packed with dynamite, bringing together Bull Martin and Al Mercier, headlines the wrestling card compiled by Matchmaker Sam Price for the weekly mat wars at the Boston Arena tonight.

Al Mercier

Martin is king of the bad men in the wrestling business; Mercier holds the New England heavy weight championship.

The Bull looks better than he did when he was the chief magnet at the Arena several seasons back, meeting such tough citizens as Gentleman Jack Washburn, Charlie Strack, Rowdy Rudy Laditzki and others.

In the semifinal bout tonight Steve Pasada, ex-junior heavy weight champion, will meet Georges Carpentier from Canada, a 30-minute melee with one fall to win. In a special bout Pat Riley, Texas, will tangle with Dan Cady from Notre Dame.

Other bouts, with 20-minute curfews, will be Oldman Lloyd Stewart vs. Count Otto von Zuppler; Lee Ryan, Fordham, vs. Joe Esposito, newcomer, and Pete Janco vs. Steve Bartes.

Ski Scribbles by "TAP" GOODENOUGH

BACKYARD SKIING IN BOSTON can now be had everywhere, thanks to the new snowfall! Slopes in the suburbs have been crowded night and day with snow-starved skiers who had longed for a chance to practice on local lawns. Ski Heil, St. Peter!

Reports from New Hampshire, Vermont and Canada are the best of the season. Cannon Mountain, Franconia Notch, N. H., has excellent skiing with 10 inches of new powder over a 46-inch old base. Mount Mansfield, Stowe, Vermont, also has grand touring.

This column wishes to congratulate the Snow Trainers at Plymouth, N. H., and one each from Lynn and Worcester to the Eastern Slope Region and Fabyan in Crawford Notch carried well over 2000 passengers. . . . Ski Fever!

Most of the Snow Trainers at Plymouth went to the Franconia Slope or to Huckleberry Hill. Others attended the Standard Course Slalom on Wendy's Slope. C. Heil met of Saugus made the fastest time and was the only medal winner. Sherb Graves did a grand job on Frontenac where he had eight tons of fresh snow raked on the hill to cover windblown patches. . . . Nice going. . . . Five Newfound Region towns were invaded by a thousand skiers. . . . Long waiting lines were in evidence all day on the Mailbox Hill Town. The tow at the Pasquaney Inn Slopes was also operating. . . .

late Wendell O. Hilly and Hans G. Felsch of the Plymouth Swiss Ski School at Plymouth, N. H., and Donald Shaw of the Eastern Slope Region who were successfully certified in the second examination of the season given by the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association at Hanover, N. H., Monday to sponsor.

Spectators Receive Thrill Watching Dual Slalom Races

A PARALLEL SLALOM COURSE on which competitors raced each other at the same time was set by Oscar Cyr of Tenney Hill. Watching two racers starting at once and swerving through the flags together was a real thrill for spectators, as well as an innovation. It had all the thrills of a horse race, but there were no photo finishes! Cyr is to be commended on introducing such a novel slalom race, the first of its kind in New England. Everyone would like to see more.

ELIZABETH (LIBBY) TILL, one of Oscar Cyr's proteges and a member of the Oshoni Ski Club of Boston, is proving to be the sensation of the Newfound Region. Racing in slaloms for the first time on the past three consecutive Saturdays, the sparkling Miss Till has won two heats and placed third in the other. She has been racing against seasoned campaigners from the Thomson Ski Club, Black and Blue Trail Smashers, and others. Truly, here is Miss War Admiral on ski!

SKIING'S SCOPE is certainly increasing! From the start of the season, this writer has noticed improve competent professional ski teachers. The total number of "pro" ski teachers now certified by the USEASA is 28.

TRAIL TRACKS FROM LAST WEEK-END: Figures "don't lie" except when they fall down in the snow—but, anyway, three Snow Trains last Sunday from Boston to Plymouth, N. H., and one each from Lynn and Worcester to the Eastern Slope Region and Fabyan in Crawford Notch carried well over 2000 passengers. . . . Ski Fever!

improvements to benefit the sport growing by leaps and bounds. The first, notably, was the Cannon Mountain Aerial Tramway, the only one on the North American Continent. This "Magic Carpet" for skiers is the greatest device of its kind we've ever seen. . . . Along with the tram must be mentioned the development of wider trails on Cannon Mountain. Too many of New England's "gor ski" trails are too narrow, but maybe some skiers like to see how close they can come by tree!

Other steps in furthering skiing are the establishing of Ski Patrols and a National Patrol. These patrols are most useful and necessary.

The certification of ski instructors has certainly helped to build up teaching to a higher plane, and the growth of Ski Schools is a definite aid to the sport.

SPEAKING OF SKI SCHOOLS, more people than ever are now taking lessons in the art of controlling the slippery slates. Almost everyone should go to Ski School for their own sakes. Some skiers think they look good "schussing," skin together, weight on their heels, doing "skid turns." Only by taking lessons will they gain the right form and learn to do their turns correctly. Safe skiing will then be attained. Plenty of "Whit Burns" should get off the trails and on the open slopes until they learn to ski. Go to Ski School!

THE NON-SKIER can't seem to realize just how big this skiing business is, nor can the average person visualize that thousands make the trek to snow fields every week end. Every other car has a skivack, and the sport means plenty of business for northern towns.
